

ABOUT CAPE

THE CENTER FOR ASIA-PACIFIC EXCHANGE, a publicly supported, non-profit educational institution, was established in Honolulu, Hawaii in November 1980. Its purposes, as stated in its charter, are to promote mutual respect, understanding, and cooperation among the people of the Asia-Pacific region by providing opportunities for professional collaboration, cultural interchange, educational exchange and scholarly research. In addition, these exchanges must be offered in the context of new advances in science, technology and information.

Since its inception, the Center has hosted in its various programs over 12,000 participants from countries located in the Asia-Pacific area including Burma, Canada, China, Fiji, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Micronesia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Singapore, Taiwan, Thailand, and the United States.

The Advisory Council members are Daniel K. Akaka, former U.S. Senator, Hawaii; John Farias, Emeritus Chair, University of Hawaii Board of Regents, and former Chairman, Hawaii State Board of Agriculture; Young-Tae Kim, Chairman, Daesung Group; Matthew M. Matsunaga, Attorney, Schlack Ito, and former Senator, State of Hawaii; and Ruth M. Ono, Emeritus Regent, University of Hawaii and Emeritus Vice President, The Queen's Health Systems.

The members of the Board of Directors are John Chang, former Deputy Attorney General, State of Hawaii; James T. Shon, former Executive Director, Charter School, Administrative Office, State of Hawaii; Edward J. Shultz, former Dean, School of Hawaiian, Asian & Pacific Studies, University of Hawaii; Jai-Ho Yoo, President, CAPE; and Fred Yoo, Co-President, CAPE.

CAPE Research-Oriented Program

The Center for Asia-Pacific Exchange
Honolulu, Hawaii

Prospectus

After nearly 40 years of offering a wide variety of academic and professional programs along with exchange opportunities, CAPE will change its focus from programs to research. CAPE will discontinue all programs, effective Winter 2018.

Throughout the years we have been privileged to provide professional training, academic seminars and cultural and language courses to over 12,000 scholars, teachers, students, and professionals from countries of the Asia-Pacific area as well as to over 2,000 local Hawaii residents.

We look forward to continuing our vision of empowering global citizens by encouraging focused research. As our plans for redesign begin to take shape, we will be able to share more details with you.

We would like to thank our supporters for all your contributions to our programs over the years, and we ask for your understanding as we undergo these changes.

Submission and selection of research:

- Anyone interested may submit their individual research, or research in cooperation with others (departments, colleagues, etc.).
- Research accepted may be rewarded with nominal financial support.

Seminars/workshops:

- Consider seminars or workshops for specific areas of research.

Research fund:

- Set up fund to facilitate research.
- Startup fund will come from CAPE program fund followed by special fundraising efforts.

Online journal:

- Creation of a CAPE on-line research journal.
